

Web of Influence:

Write your name in the center. List the emerging adults in your work and life spheres.

Start with family members and work out to children of friends and other emerging adults.

Where do most of the names in your web show up?

What would it take for you to connect with these young adults in these different places?